

SWITCHBOARD MAKES CHANGES NECESSARY

NUMBERS OF MANY PHONES IN CITY WILL BE DIFFERENT IN FUTURE.

ARE TESTING OUT LINES TODAY

Patrons Should Answer Phone Immediately to Give Linemen the Needed Information.

Workmen today began testing the telephone wires on the south side of the river and the work will be continued all over the city rapidly until all phones are again in service. So patrons should answer the phone at once if the bell rings, for the linemen will not wait for the information they want but will go on to the next pair of wires. The connection of the phone will not mean that service has been re-established, announcement to that effect being made later.

ORDERED VERDICT IN MENDOTA DAMAGE SUIT

JUDGE BAUME INSTRUCTED JURY TO FIND DEFENDANT "NOT GUILTY"

FAILED TO SUBSTANTIATE CASE

At the conclusion of the testimony in the damage suit brought by Anton Kuelgren of Mendota against the Illinois Central railroad company Tuesday afternoon in circuit court Attorney H. S. Dixon for the railroad made a motion that the court instruct the jury to find for the defendant on the contention that the plaintiff had not substantiated that part in the declaration as filed in the case in which it was stated that the engine was being operated at an unreasonable rate of speed when it struck the plaintiff and further, because the plaintiff did not exercise proper care in crossing the tracks. The court sustained the motion and the plaintiff excepted. The jury was then instructed to retire and prepare their verdict finding the defendant not guilty and the instructions were carried out. The jury was then excused until Monday afternoon.

There has been very little doing today in the court and a few orders in chancery matters were entered.

MAKE NITROGEN AT ROCK ISLAND ARSENAL

HOUSE COMMITTEE WILL GET REPORT ON COST OF PRODUCING POWER

Washington, D.C., Jan. 25.—At the request of Representative Hull of Iowa, Brig. Gen. William Crozier, chief of the bureau of ordnance, today was directed by the house military committee to submit to the committee a special report on the cost of producing power at the Rock Island arsenal.

Gen. Crozier was also asked to submit to the committee for its consideration correspondence on this subject with Col. George Burr, commanding the arsenal. This correspondence, it is understood, will show that power can be produced at the Rock Island arsenal cheaper than at any arsenal or private plant in the country.

There is, according to Gen. Crozier, a total of about 10,000 horse power available for use at the Rock Island arsenal and the house committee is considering the desirability of making appropriations for the development of this power in the production of nitrogen to be used in the manufacture of powder.

British troops made another attack on the Turks in Mogopotamia, but gave up after appalling losses, says Constantinople.

London, Jan. 26.—Russian troops are supplementing the Bessarabian campaign by a new offensive to the north and have advanced to within three miles of Pinsk, according to Petrograd dispatches.

The Germans are strengthening their positions along the Oginski canal, north of Pinsk, to meet the expected Slav attack. The movement against Pinsk is an extension of the offensive launched against the Austro-Germans in the Kovel-Sarny railroad region a few weeks ago.

Pinsk was occupied by German troops under Field Marshal von Mackensen in the Teutonic drive following the capture of Warsaw. The Germans halted their eastward drive at Pinsk and Mackensen then moved upon the Balkans. There have been no previous reports of a Russian advance on Pinsk.

ANOTHER SUCCESSFUL PERFORMANCE BY ELKS

SECOND SHOW DREW BIG AUDIENCE AND COMPANY SCORED BIG HIT

Another large audience attended the second and last production of the Elks' charity show at the opera house Tuesday evening and their comments, too, were that the production was the best the Elks have ever given. Their appearance brought forth a big round of applause and during the evening they made things interesting for the singers, too.

The two shows were a success in every way, and as a result the charity committee of the lodge, to which the net proceeds will be turned over, will have a good fund to work upon during the coming year. It is impossible to state the amount cleared at present.

"The victims should number several thousand."

London, Jan. 26.—Carrying out the new campaign of aerial attacks upon English Channel ports, Teuton aviators made their fourth raid, bombarding Dunkirk and hurling shells on many villages behind the French lines. Germans Raid Dunkirk.

An official statement from the admiralty reported a raid by two German aeroplanes on the French seaport of Dunkirk at 6 o'clock in the morning. The admiralty added that a German aeroplane, possibly one of those engaged in the Dunkirk attack, was shot down by a British aviator at 8 o'clock at Nieupoit, eighteen miles from Dunkirk and a short distance from the German lines.

The Dunkirk raid follows two bombing expeditions to English coast towns and an attempted attack on Dover Monday afternoon, in which the German was driven off by British airmen.

Dunkirk until recently was the headquarters for the staff of one of the British armies in northern France. Since the removal of these headquarters it has been practically immune from air attacks.

"We repudiate the idea that our policy means we will not abandon neutrality under any conditions. It is our fervent desire to keep peace and it is our duty to work for this end with all our might, but he must also reckon with eventualities in which maintenance of peace, in spite of all our efforts, would no longer be profitable."

Says There Is More Danger from England Than Germany.

Washington, Jan. 26.—There is more danger of a war with England than with Germany, Republican Leader Mann declared in a speech in the house, announcing he would support preparedness legislation. He urged immediate creation of a standing army of from 250,000 to 500,000 men.

Regarding preparedness details, he said: "It were well, as an emergency, we should increase the regular army to 250,000, 300,000 or even 500,000; we should provide ample coast fortifications and a navy able to defend us on the seas."

FAIL TO AGREE ON LUSITANIA

Germany Unwilling to Admit Attack Was Illegal.

Washington, Jan. 26.—Germany has again failed in express terms to meet the demands of the United States for a settlement of the Lusitania controversy.

Count von Bernstorff was so informed at a conference which he had with Secretary Lansing. It is learned that the stumbling block consists in the unwillingness of the German government to admit that the course of her submarine warfare at the time the Lusitania was destroyed was illegal.

THE QUICK LUNCH COUNTER

In the United States time is very valuable, and it is only had in the water-easy on a raft, with 135 years of it, while European nations have succeeded in using up over 1,000 years apiece without getting anywhere in particular. In our 135 years we have had a revolution, a buffalo, and rattlesnakes from 3,000,000 square miles of territory; build houses equipped with steam heat and pianos for upwards of 100,000,000 people; construct 200,000 miles of railroads; build 200,000 churches and 10,000 libraries; turn 50,000 square miles of forest into cornfields and potato patches and bring 10,000 baseball teams to their present state of perfection. Because he has been busy at all these tasks, the American citizen has not had much time to waste on lunch. This accounts for the quick lunch counter, an invention by which a man is able to engulf four varieties of food and a toothpick in less time than it takes to flag a waiter in an European restaurant.

The quick lunch counter is as big a time-saver as the telephone, the automobile, the packing house and the lynching bee. With its aid, a man can lower enough food into his digestive system in two minutes to keep it busy until evening and perhaps all night. It has come into a panting and breathless nation as a long sought-for boon and only the loiterers and dilettantes now sit down in a chair and put

WHY THE BEST OF CHEWS IS "SPEAR HEAD"

Its Rich, Sweet, Mellow Flavor Has Been Famous for a Generation

MADE OF CHOICEST RED BURLEY

The secret of tobacco satisfaction is known only to the man who chews plug tobacco. The reason is that a good chew gets right next to your taste, while the leaf in plug tobacco is in a state of fresh, juicy richness that is not possible in any other form of tobacco.

There's no tobacco in the world that can give you the hearty, wholesome flavor that you get from a delicious chew of Spear Head.

Spear Head is made exclusively of ripe, red Kentucky Burley—the most richly-flavored chewing tobacco that grows. Still more, only the very choicest red Burley leaf is used for Spear Head.

This choice leaf is selected with the most painstaking care, is stemmed by hand, is thoroughly washed free of all foreign matter, and is pressed into Spear Head plugs so slowly that not a drop of juice or an atom of the natural flavor escapes.

Try Spear Head and you'll get a sweet, mellow, luscious, satisfying chew that cannot be obtained in any other tobacco. Buy a 5c or 10c cut to-day.

WAR IS GREAT BOOM FOR EVERY JUNK MAN

SCRAP METAL USED IN ENORMOUS QUANTITIES TO MANUFACTURE SHRAPNEL.

Illinois junk dealers are nursing war babies.

Incidentally the business is proving financially successful and as long as Washington continues to permit the export of war impedimenta the junk men will continue to reap excellent profits.

If many a housewife knew last spring and throughout the summer that her old stove, worn-out sewing machine, and odds and ends innumerable which she collected in hopes of raising a few pennies from the junk men were being at the present time hurled from the mouth of entente allies' cannon into the trenches and the ranks of the central powers she no doubt would have kept her little pile of old iron, for that is how American junk heaps are being used.

Tremendous increase per ton in the price of scrap iron has been paid by foundries and war plants since the allies first called upon the U. S. for shells. Scrap iron has nearly doubled in price and dealers fortunate to have huge supplies on hand have profited materially as a result. The scrap is being used for shrapnel the foundries converting the iron into bars which are later machine worked by the war plants and shipped abroad.

Most of our orders are for empty shells, but there is also considerable loading of the shrapnel in the United States, although the number ready for immediate use on the battlefield does not compare in number with the amount of empty shells sent abroad for loading and use.

Dealers tell the story of a man at LaFayette, Ill., who for six years picked up every piece of iron he came upon. On December 10 36 box cars were necessary to carry the huge pile to an eastern foundry. On Saturday the man received a huge check for his old iron.

For Miss Thome
Miss Vera Thome was guest of honor last evening at a dinner party given following the Elks' Minstrels at the home of Miss Janetta Phillips, the occasion being Miss Thome's birthday. The color scheme of the dinner was pink and white, a large white cake with the requisite number of candles in the pink, set in tiny rose holders, forming the centerpiece. The place cards were in the pink and white and were tied to opera sticks. Cleverly constructed pink baskets with ribbon bows on the handles, and bearing candy novelties constituted the favors. Misses Emma Schumm and Violet Graehling assisted in entertaining. The other guests included Elwood Hutz, Roy McCleary, Claude Horton and Elvin Hardin, together with Mrs. J. J. Thome and Mrs. W. W. Phillips, who acted as chaperons.

Misses Harriet Schumm, Lucile Mason and Edith Miller were among the guests entertained by Miss Nina Hildebrand at her home in Polo Friday evening at a "January birthday party." Nearly all the guests were celebrating their birthdays on some day in the month. Red roses, arranged in two vases, one at either end of the table and four candle sticks, shaded with red, adorned the table, where a several course dinner was served. Five hundred furnished the diversion for the evening.

Ladies Aid Meeting
Mrs. Hagen's pleasant home on E. Morgan was a busy place yesterday afternoon when Mrs. Watts' section of the Methodist Ladies' Aid was entertained. The gloom of the day certainly did not penetrate with in cosy interior of the home and affected not a whit the cheery spirits of those present. Those who stayed at home yesterday haven't any idea of the good time missed.

YOU CAN'T FIND ANY DANDRUFF, AND HAIR STOPS COMING OUT

Save your hair! Make it thick, wavy, glossy and beautiful at once

Try as you will, after an application of Danderine, you can not find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most, will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy. Just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is immediate and amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment. A 25-cent bottle will double the beauty of your hair.

Assist Your Stomach

To Get Rid of the Poisonous Gases and Fermenting Food.

A good long fast will do this sometimes. A trip to the mountains. Tramping. Roughing it. Yes, very good remedies.

But are you going to avail yourself of either one of these remedies. No? Then the next best thing is to try a bottle of Peruna. Take it according to directions. You will have a natural appetite. All gas and fermentation in the stomach will disappear.

Read what Mrs. Emma Bell, Box 204, Fort Pierce, Florida, says: 'I was taken suddenly with swelling of the stomach and bowels, and great distress. Very painful. Three doctors gave me no relief. Could not eat anything. Everything soured. I was starving to death. I began taking Peruna and was soon strong enough to do work. After taking five bottles I can truthfully say I am well. I gained twenty pounds.'

St. Agnes Guild Meeting
An important business meeting of St. Agnes Guild will be held Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the rectory. Every member is urged to be present.

G. A. R. Circle Sewing
Ladies of the G. A. R. Circle are to remember the sewing bee to be held tomorrow with Mrs. Mae Brookner Cupp, 313 W. Sixth street.

The Isle of Pines
Quite a discussion arose following the announcement the other day that Mr. and Mrs. George Downing were going to the Isle of Pines in February. Some said, "That isn't spelled right," and said it should be the Isla de Pinos, and they were right and we weren't wrong for it is spelled both ways. And others wondered where it was, anyway. Take your map of Cuba and south of the western portion you will find not far out in the Caribbean sea this island 200 miles long and forty-five miles wide. It was discovered by Columbus—you remember when—and has a just-right climate for a winter resort and is much affected by pleasure seekers. Last week the temperature was from 73 to 82, so you see it is neither too warm nor fringing on the cold. A three-days' ride from Chicago will get you there. Go from Key West, Florida, to Havana, Cuba, then cross Cuba just a little way out in the Caribbean sea you will find this delightful resort. Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Countryman and H. M. Wright are other Dixon people who will visit the Isle of Pines this winter.

W. C. O. F. Meet
The W. C. O. F. will hold their regular meeting tomorrow evening at K. C. hall. All members are requested to come as there will be installation of officers and other business of importance.

of the evening, with the address of welcome given by Mrs. Mary Wilson, a member of the Past Noble Grand club. Mrs. Brimmer of Sterling, who instituted the Dixon lodge twenty years ago, responded. Mrs. Johnson of Polo and Mrs. Kecker of Ashton also spoke in behalf of their lodges which were instituted by the Dixon lodge a few years ago. A history of the lodge and of the Past Noble Grand club was very interestingly given by Miss Carolyn Smith. Other pleasing features of the program were: piano solo by William Worley, a vocal solo by Miss Jennie Oakes, a pantomime, "Three Maids of Lee" by Mrs. Robert Nelson and Misses Pauline Brass and Clara Hasselberg, a vocal solo by Mrs. W. G. Kent, and an exhibition of fancy dancing by Marcelle Kent.

A three course banquet was served in the dining room following the program. Decorations of the hall were in the lodge colors, pink and green, the serving table being adorned with a bouquet of pink carnations. Mesdames Kent and Kennedy poured music from an Edison disc phonograph, kindly furnished by J. E. Moyer, was enjoyed during the banquet.

Daddy's Bedtime

The Little Squegee Gives Dick an Invitation.

"We'll be at the moon in a jiffy."

"WHEN a little boy, Dick, asked an elf his name," daddy told his children, "the little chap sat right down on the edge of Dick's bed and whispered: 'I'll tell you something, but never repeat it! I gave myself the name of Squegee. I made the name up. My parents were very poor and could not afford to buy ninety-five names for my brothers, sisters and me, too. So they went to a word factory and bought up a lot of damaged words at half price. They got some splendid bargains, too. One was 'amelioration,' with the 'l' gone out of it, and another was a badly worn 'bee.' Out of these my clever mother got Amelia and Nobe for my twin sisters, and the two or three other letters came in handy for my fifty-sixth brother. When they came to me all that was left at the word factory was a shopworn 'Squeel,' with the 'l' missing, and a rather shabby 'green.' Squegee was the best I could make of it. You don't happen to want an 'r' or an 'ee,' do you?' The elf asked this in the friendliest way.

"No, thank you," said Dick, choosing with laughter. "What a funny way to name people!"

"Dear me," murmured the Squegee, taking out a watch almost as big as a pea. "It's getting very late! If we don't hurry it will be too early."

"Too late, you mean, don't you?" whispered Dick.

"Oh, I nearly always mean what I say! I mean too early! By the way, I almost forgot to tell you," the Squegee went on, "that I came to invite you to pay a visit to the Jeeboos land. Get dressed as fast as you can or a little faster."

"Who are the Jeeboos?" asked Dick, hurriedly jumping for his clothes.

"They are the animals who live in the moon, of course," sniggered the Squegee. "Come on!"

"It's funny I have never read about them," said Dick.

"That's because you didn't read the right book," said the elf.

"But I have read our natural history book all through!" cried Dick, lacing his shoes like lightning.

"But have you ever read unnatural history," giggled the Squegee.

"No," Dick confessed, buttoning his blouse.

"Well, that's where you'd find out all about the Jeeboos and such animals as the wuzzle, the langoerie and the grink!"

"Will I see them all if I go to Jeeboosland?" asked Dick, putting on his cap and remembering a day at the zoo.

"Certainly! Now take hold of my hand and we'll be at the moon in a jiffy," promised the little Squegee.

G.G. MESSER-A TRIBUTE

John H. Byers, secretary to Congressman McKenzie, in a letter to Sheriff R. R. Phillips, pays a beautiful tribute to G. G. Messer, which bespeaks the memories and thoughts of all who knew and loved the grand old gentleman. The letter is:

I read in the Evening Telegraph this morning the account of the death of our very dear friend, Mr. "Gib" Messer. I am sorry that the poor fellow had to be taken away. All who knew Gib respected him most highly, loved him, and always looked up him as a friend. Gib Messer will be missed from the sheriff's office and from all the other offices in the court house, for that matter.

Every day found Gib the same. No matter where you met him he had his hand extended for a shake and he had something pleasant to say. Poor Gib—it is really too bad to have to give him up.

One organization in Dixon, of which I am a member, will miss Mr. Messer, that organization is the Dixon Press club. The club never gave a picnic up the river that "Old Gib" was not the chief cook. His steaks tasted better than steaks prepared at the best hotels of the country. We will always remember him when we have our annual picnic during the years yet to come. His jokes and laughter at these occasions always made the occasion more pleasant.

You, Robert, will miss him. He was one of your most reliable men. The Court will miss him because he was always on the job early and late. Jurors will miss him, for he was always their faithful guide and watch. All will miss him because he was a jolly good fellow, with a pleasant word, and a smile.

His comrades will miss him because he was always on hand on the day set apart for the placing of flowers on the grave of comrades dead. Next Memorial day he will be missed and some other comrade will ride at the head of the parade.

Gib Messer, as I knew him, had no bad habits. He lived well and he lived good in every sense of the word. His life was clean. His examples could well be followed by every one. His death called away one of the most lovable, most respected and most reliable citizens of Dixon. The town he loved so well and loved so much to talk about.

The last time I saw Gib and talked with him was on a train between Dixon and Rochelle, on my way to Washington. He was taking the Aurora to the big swamp. He took cold while on duty, like the soldier he was in the sixties, he died on duty, not on the field of battle, but on the field of duty, the great field upon which we all work and do what is required of us.

When I return and visit you at the court house I will miss my old friend.

Gib has gone from us but he will not be forgotten for many years to come, for many of the younger fellows knew him well and loved him as a citizen and a man.

With best wishes for you and all my friends, I am,

Your friend,

KIDNEY TROUBLE LEADS TO TERRIBLE TORTURE

Hundreds of sufferers from pains in the back and sides, bladder and urination, puffy swellings under the eyes or in the feet and ankles, nervousness, tired or worn-out or headache feeling, don't seem to realize that the greater part of all sickness today can be avoided by keeping the kidneys working properly. If you suffer from any of the many agonies that accompany weak, clogged-up or diseased kidneys you should not neglect yourself another day and run the risk of serious complications. Secure a package of Solvax, the wonderful new kidney remedy, which is very inexpensive yet acts quickly and surely on the seat of the trouble. You'll be surprised how entirely different you'll feel in a very short time.

It doesn't matter how long you have suffered, how old you are or what you have used. The very principle of Solvax is such that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without beneficial results.

Solvax has been so universally successful that Rowland Bros. will in future sell it under a positive guarantee of relief or refund the money.

PRINCESS THEATRE.

Tonight Manager Slothower has arranged an excellent program for the theatre goes in two fine features. A two reel American drama entitled, "Man to Man," with Jack Richardson and Anna Little in the leading roles is the first, a soul stirring drama of the west in which two men and a woman take the title parts. This drama has for its motif The Strong Deserve the Fair, and is wonderfully portrayed by an all star cast. The other feature is a Keystone comedy featuring Roscoe Arbuckle entitled "Fatty's Tin Type Tangle," one of the funniest comedies ever seen in Dixon, and an all star cast including Fatty, Mabel Norman and the police force and fire brigade will be seen; some of the most uproarious plights are handled by Fatty, the Keystone favorite, in this comedy.

Thursday "The Victim" featuring Mae Maren and Robert Herron, a powerful drama, will be given.

DIXON OPERA HOUSE

Mr. J. Willard Bayley opens his 8-nights' engagement here with his new company of old favorites at the Dixon opera house Jan. 30 in "The Wife," by Belasco and De Mille. It is the first time that a play by America's foremost authors has been shown at popular prices.

Mr. Bayley brings his own scenery and electrical fixtures for his plays. He has a company of eleven players, many of them well known here and in this vicinity, as they have played with well known stock companies for several seasons. Mr. Bayley himself has been leading man for five years with one company, the Flora DeVoss company, and his wife, known on the stage as Avo Gordon, was the character woman.

Miss Cecile Elliott, his leading woman, late of the Princess Stock of Louisville, Ky., is a native of Illinois, and was a student at Steinman College of Dixon. Her girlhood friends will remember her as Miss Cecile Melvin.

Mr. Thomas L. Dodd, last season with Jack Bessy, as heavy man, is now with Mr. Bayley. Mr. Harry Royale who played Father Kelley in one of the "Rosary" companies, is the character man. Other members are Miss Etta DeVoto, Mr. Thos. Coulthard, Bud Schafer, Miss Pearl Stearns and Mr. Boyd R. Bunch, the pianist. The specialties are new and up to date.

Don't forget the Bayley Stock Co. opens Sunday, Jan. 30th, instead of Monday, Jan. 31st.

FAMILY THEATRE

"The Battle Cry of Peace" will be shown at the Family theatre tonight and Thursday. A synopsis of the story follows:

Hudson Maxim, international authority on arms and ammunition, delivers a lecture graphically describing America's defenseless condition. John Harrison inspired by Maxim's disclosures and realizing the awful consequences to which our national unpreparedness may lead, resolves to consecrate his every effort to the cause of adequate defense. He is engaged to Virginia Vandergriff, whose father is an advocate of national disarmament and "Peace at any Price." John makes a fruitless effort to show Vandergriff the fallacy of his stand. Vandergriff's friend, Emanon, ostensibly a peace propagandist, but in reality a foreign spy, is the head of a band of conspirators plotting the invasion of America. The invaders approach New York. The news reaches a huge peace meeting at which Vandergriff is a speaker. In the midst of this meeting a shell crashes through the wall of the building. The battleships of the enemy, out of range of the guns of Forts Hamilton, Hancock and Wadsworth, are able to bombard New York.

Shells are devastating the buildings of the downtown district. Homes are desecrated, citizens slain without mercy. Terror reigns.

John's mother and sister are killed. Vandergriff is shot in the street. John is bayoneted in defense of the girl he loves. As a climax to the horror Virginia's mother, to avoid disgrace at the hands of the enemy, kills her two daughters and herself.

An allegorical masterpiece is shown contrasting Columbia, crushed, bleeding and trampled upon by a merciless foe with Columbia as she should be—proud, commanding, supreme.

"Yes, there shall be peace—but peace with plenty—peace with honor."

CHAPTER XXIX—Surprised by Mme. Ombre, Lanyard hustles Lucy out of the way and manages to engage Mme. Ombre in talk. The police come in.

CHAPTER XXX—Lanyard escapes and finds Lucy in Sacre-Coeur cathedral.

CHAPTER XXXI—In accord with an agreement with the war minister they leave France in a biplane. They are pursued by a monoplane.

CHAPTER XXXII—After a battle in the air with the monoplane they arrive in England. The aeronaut proves to be Wertheimer.

CHAPTER XXXIII.

The Hollow in the Downs.
The Englishman smiled cheerfully in response to Lanyard's cry of astonishment.

"In effect," he observed, stripping off his gauntlets, "you're right, Mr. Lanyard. Wertheimer isn't my name, but it is so closely identified with my—ah—insinuating personality as to warrant the misapprehension. I shan't demand an apology so long as you permit me to preserve an incognito which may yet prove somewhat useful."

"Incognito!" Lanyard stammered, completely disconcerted. "Useful!"

"You have my meaning exactly; although my work in Paris is now ended, there's no saying when it mightn't be convenient to be able to go back without establishing a new identity."

Before Lanyard replied to this the look of wonder in his eyes had yielded to one of understanding.

"Scotland Yard, eh?" he queried curtly.

Wertheimer bowed. "Special agent," he added.

"I might have guessed, if I hadn't the wit of the domestic goose!" Lanyard affirmed bitterly. "But I must admit—"

"Yes," the Englishman assented pleasantly; "I did pull your leg—didn't I? But no more than the limbs of our other friends. Of course, it's taken some time. I had to establish myself firmly over here as a shining light of the swill rack before De Morbihan would take me to his hospitable bosom."

"And—I presume I'm under arrest?"

With a laugh the Englishman shook his head vigorously.

"No, thank you," he declared. "I've had too convincing proof of your distaste for interference in your affairs. You fight too sincerely, Mr. Lanyard—and I'm as tired a sleuth this very morning as ever was! I'll need a week's rest to fit me to cope with the task of taking you into custody—a week and some very able-bodied assistance! But," he amended with graver countenance, "I will say this: if you're in England a week hence, I'll be tempted to undertake the job on general principles. I don't in the least question the sincerity of your intention to behave yourself hereafter; but as a servant of the king, it's my duty to advise you that England would prefer you to start life anew—as they say—in another country. Several steamers will be sailing for the States before the end of the week—further details I leave entirely to your discretion. But go you must," he concluded firmly.

"I understand—" said Lanyard; and would have said more, but couldn't. There was something suspiciously like a mist before his eyes.

Avoiding the faces of his sweetheart and the Englishman, he turned aside, put forth a hand blindly to a wing of the biplane to steady himself, and stood with head bowed and limbs trembling.

Moving quietly to his side, the girl took his other hand and held it tight. Presently Lanyard shook himself impatiently and lifted his head again.

"Sorry," he said apologetically—"but your generosity—when I looked for nothing better than arrest—was a bit too much for my nerves!"

"Nonsense!" the Englishman commented with brisk good-humor. "We're all upset. A drop of brandy'll do us no end of good."

Unbuttoning his leather surlout, he produced a flask from one of the inner pockets, filled its metal cup, and offered it to the girl.

"You first, if you please, Miss Shannon. No—I insist. You positively need it."

She allowed herself to be persuaded, drank, coughed, gasped and returned the cup, which Wertheimer promptly refilled and passed to Lanyard.

The raw spirits stung like fire, but proved an instant aid to the badly jangled nerves of the adventurer. In another moment he was much more himself.

Drinking in turn, Wertheimer put away the flask. "That's better!" he commented. "Now I shall be able to cut along with this blessed machine without fretting over the fate of Ekstrom. But till now I haven't been able to forget—"

He paused and drew a hand across his eyes.

"It was, then, Ekstrom—you think?" Lanyard demanded.

"Unquestionably! De Morbihan had learned—I know—of your bargain with Ducroy; and I know, too, that he and Ekstrom spent each morning in the hangars at St-Germain-en-Laye after your sensational escape. It never entered my head, of course, that they had any such insane scheme brewing as that—else I would never have so giddily arranged with Ducroy—through the surety, of course—to take Vauquelin's place. Besides, who else could it have been? Not De Morbihan, for he's crippled for life, thanks to that affair in the Bois; not Popinot, who was on his way to the Sante, last I saw of him; and never Bannan—he was dead before I left Paris for Port Aviation."

"Dead!"

"Oh, quite!" the Englishman affirmed nonchalantly. "When we arrested him at three this morning—charged with complicity in the murder of Roddy—he flew into a passion that brought on a fatal hemorrhage. He died within ten minutes."

"There was a little silence."

"I may tell you, Mr. Lanyard," the Englishman resumed, looking up from the motor, to which he was paying attention with monkey-wrench and oil can, "that you were quite mistaken when you ridiculed the idea of the 'International Underworld, Unlimited.' Of course, if you hadn't laughed, I shouldn't feel quite as much respect for you as I do; in fact, the chances are you'd be in handcuffs—or a cell in the Sante—this very minute. But, absurd as it sounded—and was—the 'Underworld' project was a pot hobby of Bannan's—who'd been the brains of a gang of criminals in New York for many years. He was a bit touched on the subject. A monomaniac, if you ask me. And his enthusiasm won De Morbihan and Popinot over—and me! He took a wonderful fancy to me, Bannan did; I really was appointed first lieutenant in Greggs' squad. Nothing he wouldn't tell me. I even got him to tell me about you—why he was so uncommon vindictive. Do you wish to know?"

"If you please."

"It seems Bannan was the chap who kidnapped and abandoned you at Troyon's. Your mother had been his wife, but left him for cause—divorced him—and married again in England. You were the child of her second marriage. Bannan managed to ruin your father—drove him into bankruptcy and to suicide—and the shock of that, coupled with your disappearance, killed your mother. But even that wasn't enough for Bannan; and when he found you'd grown up to be to his place in the tool kit, 'you're very wise. In fact, my personal feeling for you is one of growing esteem, if you'll permit me to say so. You've most of the makings of a man. Will you shake hands—with a copper's mark?"

He gave Lanyard's hand a firm and friendly grasp and turned to the girl.

"Good-by, Miss Shannon. I'm truly grateful for the assistance you gave us. Without you we'd have been sadly handicapped. And now it's good-by and good luck. I hope you may be happy. I'm sure you can't go far without coming across a highroad or a village; but—for reasons not unconnected with my professional pursuits—I prefer to remain in ignorance of the way you go."

Releasing her hand, he stepped back, saluted the lovers with a smile and gay gesture, and clambered briskly to the pilot's seat of the biplane.

When firmly established, he turned the switch of the starting mechanism. The heavy, distinctive hum of the great motor filled that isolated hollow in the Downs with a sound like the purring of a dynamo.

With a final wave of his hand, Wertheimer grasped the starting lever. Its brood deepening, the Parrott stirred, shot forward abruptly. In two seconds it was fifty yards distant, its silhouette already blurred, its wheels lifting from the rim of the hollow.

Then lightly it rose and soared, parted the mists, vanished.

For some time Lanyard and Lucy Shannon remained motionless, clinging together, hand in hand, their faces upturned, as if expecting its reappearance, listening to the drone that presently dwindled to a mere thread of sound and died out altogether in the obscurity above them.

Then, turning, they faced each other, smiling uncertainly, a smile that said: "So all that is finished! Or, perhaps, we have dreamed it!"

Suddenly, with a low cry, the girl gave herself to Lanyard's arms; and as this happened the mists parted and bright sunlight flooded the hollow in the Downs.

After a little, taking her lips away, the girl rested her head on his shoulder and sighed a little sigh, a soft sigh of content.

"If we hurry," she said then, "it's possible that we may win to London yet, before it's too late."

"Too late?"

"To get a special license—or whatever it is one must get before one may marry in haste in England. Don't you know?"

He shook his head, laughed, and caught her more closely to him.

"No," he confessed; "I don't know. I haven't had much experience. But we can ask a policeman. Who's afraid?"

THE END.

You can end gripe and break up a severe cold either in head, chest, body or limbs, by taking a dose of "Pape's Cold Compound" every two hours until three doses are taken.

It promptly opens clogged-up nostrils and air passages in the head, stops nasty discharge or nose running, relieves sick headache, dullness, feverishness, sore throat, sneezing, soreness and stiffness.

Don't stay stuffed up! Quit blowing and snuffling! Ease your throbbing head—nothing else in the world gives such prompt relief as "Pape's Cold Compound" which costs only 25 cents at any drug store. It acts without assistance, tastes nice, and causes no inconvenience.

SAYS HOT WATER WASHES POISONS FROM THE LIVER

Everyone should drink hot water with phosphate in it, before breakfast.

To feel as fine as the proverbial fiddle, we must keep the liver washed clean, almost every morning, to prevent its sponge-like pores from clogging with indigestible material, sour bile and poisonous toxins, says a noted physician.

If you get headaches, it's your liver. If you catch cold easily, it's your liver. If you wake up with a bad taste, furrowed tongue, nasty breath or stomach becomes rancid, it's your liver. Sallow skin, muddy complexion, watery eyes all denote liver uncleanness. Your liver is the most important, also the most abused and neglected organ of the body. Few know its function or how to release the dammed-up body waste, bile and toxins. Most folks resort to violent calomel, which is a dangerous, salivating chemical which can only be used occasionally because it accumulates in the tissues, also attacks the bones.

Every man and woman, sick or well, should drink each morning before breakfast a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, to wash from the liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible material, the poisons, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Limestone phosphate "does not" restrict the diet like calomel, because it can not salivate, for it is harmless and you can eat anything afterwards. It is inexpensive and almost tasteless, and any pharmacist will sell you a quarter pound, which is sufficient for a demonstration of how hot water and limestone phosphate cleans, stimulates and freshens the liver, keeping you feeling fit day in and day out.

JAS. W. BALLOU, Assistant.

TAKE "CASCARETS" IF HEADACHY, BILIOUS AND CONSTIPATED

Best for liver, and bowels, bad breath, bad colds, sour stomach

Get a 10-cent box.

Sick headache, biliousness, coated tongue, head and nose clogged up with a cold—always trace this to torpid liver; delayed, fermenting food in the bowels, or sour, gassy stomach.

Poisonous matter clogged in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system is re-absorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, throbbing, sickening headache.

Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist means your liver clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels regular for months.

A miscellaneous shower was tendered Miss Clara Brown at the home of Mrs. Clyde Wrigley at Lee Wednesday. Miss Brown received a large number of useful gifts from her many friends. She is soon to be the bride of Hiram Richardson.

George Mulins, an old settler of this county, passed away Jan. 17 at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Jas. Henderson, three miles northeast of Lee. He leaves three sons and five daughters as follows: Mesdames James Henderson, Perry Chatland, E. Carlson, all residing in this vicinity; Mrs. Edward Hartman of Iowa, and Mrs. srs. William, Robert and George of John Simmons of Tampa, Fla.; Messrs. William, Robert, and George of near Lee. The funeral was held on Thursday.

IT'S SURPRISING

THAT SO MANY DIXON PEOPLE FAIL TO RECOGNIZE KIDNEY WEAKNESS

Are you a bad back victim? Suffer twinges; headaches, dizzy spells? Go to bed tired—get up tired? It's surprising how few suspect the kidneys. Kidney trouble needs kidney treatment. Doan's Kidney Pills are for the kidneys only. Have convinced Dixon people of their merit. Here's a Dixon case; Dixon testimony. Kidney sufferers hereabouts should read it.

L. S. Fultz, Prop., of grocery store, 711 Depot Ave., Dixon, says: "Occasionally I get weak through my back and when I have such an attack Doan's Kidney Pills always relieve the trouble. They are an excellent medicine for kidney complaint and I highly recommend them." Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Fultz had. MONTENEGRIN ARMY

HAS SURRENDERED

Whole of Little Kingdom Now in Hands of Austrians.

Berlin, Jan. 26.—The main Montenegrin army has surrendered to the Austrians, and the whole of Montenegro is now held by the invaders, according to dispatches received here.

Reports that King Nicholas and the Montenegrin government withdrew their request for peace were again denied in dispatches to the Berlin newspapers. It was stated that King Nicholas left for France, under pressure of the allies, especially of the Italian king, because of the effect Montenegro's surrender had had upon the people of these countries.
